

The White Papers Digest

INTRODUCTION:

We welcome you to this NEW addition to the Perry Roofing website – “The White Papers Digest”.

This addition is intended to provide our customers, and those who have not yet become our customers, with valuable, insightful information concerning their “roofing system investment”. As one of the Top 100 roofing contractors in the nation, we believe it is our obligation to provide consultative advice to all of our constituents in order to make informed and intelligent decisions when the time comes to repair or replace a roof or roofing system.

When a repair or replacement becomes necessary, the failure to choose wisely can be financially disastrous, affecting not only the roof, but the entire structure, various subsystems, the contents of the structure and the economic well-being of a commercial or manufacturing enterprise.

Additionally, few investments can generate as long-term benefits as a roof. You, the customer or manager need to decide if your need is short-term (2 to 5 years) or long-term (10 or more years); heavy foot traffic or little foot traffic; unusual weather or environmental conditions; etc. Depending upon the type of roof and the selected material or system, 5, 10, 20, 30 or more years of service may be expected from choosing the right roofing material system. The service life of the roof can generally be extended by selecting a roofing contractor fully certified in all types of roofs and materials from many manufacturers.

The articles presented in this section, are written by a variety subject matter experts whose primary focus is to provide objective, unbiased information on roofing and its impact upon the structure and sub-systems it covers. We firmly believe that a well informed customer will make the best decisions.

We hope that you find the articles informative. We also stand ready to answer any questions that may arise to help you make the most informed decisions.
